Thank You All

Thanks to the tournament committee for all that they do:

Thank you Yvette Neary, District 13 President, for your excellent work as Partnership Chair. You are great at this!

Thanks you Stan Subeck for proofing the newsletters, getting supplies to the hospitality suite and manning the "registration" desk when needed.

Thanks you all for attending!

Thank you Lisa Subeck for your help in the Hospitality Suite. Your organizational skills and sense of humor draw players to the suite nightly.

Thanks to the hotel staff for your great cooperation. You make our jobs easier because you are so accommodating. We look forward to returning year after year.

Thanks Peter Wilke to you and your awesome directing staff! You go above and beyond in your service to the District and we appreciate it.

It is our hope that you will all return again next year ... with more friends, partners, and teammates.

The tournament committee welcomes any comments. Just email me, Suzi, at stansubeck@prodigy.net.

We hope you have enjoyed the printed newsletters. Take a set home if you didn't complete the puzzles. They will be there to amuse you in your free time!!

Hoping to see you next year...

Same general time, Same general place, Same smiling faces, Same masterpoints...

Stay healthy!!

Suzi

If you want to read these newsletters online, you can do so at the District 13 website. Go to this address:

Tournament Information

No Smoking Policy: No smoking is allowed in the hotel, playing area, washrooms, fire exits, or service areas. If you must smoke, please go outside to do it.

Partnerships: Singles should check at the partnership desk in the foyer outside of the playing area 30 minutes before game time to allow the partnership people time to arrange partners. The partnership chair handling partnerships will do her best to arrange suitable liaisons. The desk will be open prior to the morning, afternoon, and evening sessions.

Hospitality and Information Desk:

The Hospitality desk is located in the playing area.

Pick up your copy of the District Daily every morning. There will be a box on the table for you to submit any interesting hands for publication. Please include your name, your partner's name, the bidding and any other information you want featured. If you become a life master while at the tournament, please drop us a note in the bulletin box so we may offer our congratulations and let everyone know.

Here, too, you can register and pick up your registration gift.

Recorder Slips, should you need them, are available from the directors.

Score Corrections: For pair events, the score correction period expires at the start of the next session. For the last session of an event, the correction period expires after twenty-four hours or thirty minutes after the end of the tournament, whichever is earlier. See the director as soon as possible if you discover an error in your score. The appeal period for a director's ruling expires thirty minutes after the completion of the session.

Louise's five sons love computer games and playing with their friends online. Each played with five to seven other boys and the great thing about the World Wide Web was that none of their gaming friends were within easy driving distance to them. Many of them even lived in other countries. Each of the boys had a favorite online game and a bunch of friends that they gamed with on a regular basis. Determine the name and age (12 to 16) of each son, the name of each one's favorite online game, the number of each son's friends that live in the US (from 1 to 5), and the number of each son's friends that live in another country (from 1 to 5).

1. Michael was two years younger than the brother who loved "Battlefield". Steven was two years younger than the brother with four US friends but he was only one year older than the brother with four friends in other countries.
2. The brother who loved "Karate Master" was a year older than the brother who had four friends living in other countries, but he was also a year younger than the brother who had two friends living in the US.

3. Louis, who didn't like "Grab It", was fifteen and he had more than three gaming friends in the US. The brother who loved "Mystifying" had one more friend living in the US than outside the US.
4. The 12-year-old had two less US friends than Nathaniel but three more friends living outside the US than the brother who loved "Karate Master".
5. Steven, who didn't like "Space Patrol", had the most friends in the US. The brother who loved "Grab It" played with four friends who lived outside the US.
6. One brother, who wasn't Jeremy, played with five friends who lived in other countries and two friends who lived in the US. The 14-year-old, who wasn't Nathaniel, loved "Space Patrol".

West leads the obvious king of hearts. If declarer doesn't put on his thinking cap and plays dummy's ace of hearts, he fails automatically, with both finesses wrong. East ruffs the ace of hearts and shifts to a club. Declarer has to try the queen. West wins, cashes a heart and when the diamond finesses loses South finishes a trick short.

However, a thoughtful declarer can overcome these problems by playing low from dummy on the opening lead and on the next heart too! After East ruffs the third heart, declarer over-ruffs, draws trumps, and runs the jack of diamonds. Although this loses to East's queen he make ten tricks; six trumps, three diamonds and a club. The club finesse is never risked.

After West opened the bidding it was no surprise to South that the next two players passed. As he had ten probable tricks in his own hand, South doubled in the event that North held five clubs, which could be enough for a slam.

When West passed and North chose to respond in his better suit, South simply bid game.

West led the queen of hearts against four spades, taken by declarer with the ace. Two top trumps revealed the four-one break, leaving South with four seemingly inescapable losers. Declarer did not give up, continuing with his singleton diamond at trick four. West rose with the ace of diamonds and returned the ten of hearts.

As the hearts had been eliminated from East's hand (East-West were playing five card majors), South turned his attention to end-playing him. All he needed was for East to have four clubs or the top three missing clubs; he cashed the ace and king of clubs and exited with a third round of the suit. After West showed out, East won with the nine of clubs and would concede the contract on the return of either a trump or a diamond. So he had to play the jack of clubs, which declarer ruffed.

Declarer then continued with queen and a low trump, once again putting East on lead, this time with his trump trick. However, this time East had only diamonds left in his hand and so dummy's king of diamonds provided a parking place for declarer's heart loser.

When South showed two key-cards with the queen of spades with his five spade response to North's Roman Key Card Blackwood, North took a rosy view of his hand and bid the parlous grand slam. He was lucky that it had a play.

Declarer ruffed West's lead of the two of hearts and drew trumps, revealing West to have a likely six cards in the majors to East's eight. Some players might have left it at that and attacked clubs immediately, relying on West to have the queen of clubs because he had more unknown cards than East.

Nevertheless, such play is premature, because declarer can gather more information by ruffing a diamond in dummy. When he does, East is revealed to have begun with only two diamonds, and so has a 1=7=2=3 shape.

Consequently, declarer cashes dummy's king of clubs and then finesses East's queen of clubs.

41. While Wisconsin created the first workman's compensation and unemployment insurance programs, they've been more recently associated with the welfare reform movement.
42. Wisconsin is the only state to have the accordion as its state instrument. It was also, until 2011, the only state to have the polka as its official dance, until bandwagon-hopping Pennsylvania also rolled out the barrel.
43. Bloomer bills itself as the jump rope capital of the world due to its annual jump rope contest that has been going on since 1960.
44. The 52K American Birkebeiner, a cross-country ski race between Cable and Hayward, is North America's largest such event.
45. If you're ever in Middleton, you can visit the (free!) National Mustard Museum and see a collection of 5,300 different types of mustard from more than 60 countries.
46. And speaking of clowns...while the original "killer clown" wasn't a cheesehead, Wisconsin has been home to Leatherface/Norman Bates inspiration Ed Gein and the "Milwaukee Cannibal" Jeffrey Dahmer.
47. The unmanned Soviet satellite Sputnik IV fell out of orbit in September of 1962, and, while most of it burned up on re-entry, one 20-lb. chunk of metal crashed to the ground in Manitowoc. The Rahr-West Art Museum, has a replica copy of it on display since the original was returned to the Soviets.
48. Baraboo was, in the 19th century, winter home to a number of different circuses, including Ringling Brothers. The Ringling may have left for the warmer climes of Florida but Baraboo's still got its clowns and elephants, though, performing at the Circus World Museum.
49. Warrens may be a tiny little village with only 400 residents, but each September it draws over 100,000 visitors to the world's largest cranberry festival.
50. Miller Park, home of the Milwaukee Brewers, is the only baseball stadium that sells more brats than hot dogs.
