Things to See and Do in Madison ...

The Dane County Farmers' Market on the Square is a Saturday and Wednesday tradition in Madison, Wisconsin.

You'll find the season's best bounty of vegetables, flowers, and specialty products from approximately 300 vendors. All of the agriculturally-related items are produced in Wisconsin. The DCFM is reported to be the largest producer -only farmer's market in the country!

Both the Saturday and Wednesday locations are easily accessible by bike, bus or car. Dogs (except service dogs) are NOT ALLOWED on the Square during the Saturday Market. (It's a safety issue.)

The Saturday Scene on the Square is really four different events going on at once.

1. The Dane County Farmers' Market is the heart of the activities on the Square. Our vendors line the outside edge of the state capitol grounds. They sell agriculturally-related producer-only products from Wisconsin. The DCFM has strict rules for the market and has a three-year waiting list for new vendors.

2. The interior of the state capitol grounds is used for non-profit, political, and public information booths and for various entertainment activities.

3. The arts and crafts vendors are across the street on city property.

4. Also, many street musicians play across the street on city property. They add to the festivities, too.

So, enjoy the Market as often as possible. It's about fun, food, and friendly vendors. Early arrivals get first choice of the fine selection. It's a great place for peoplewatching, too.

June 23-26: The Badger State Games are now 20 years old. The Badger State Summer Games emerged as part of a national State Games movement to provide competitive opportunities for amateur athletes and took place in July of 1985 in Madison.

Modeled after the Olympics, the philosophy of the Badger State Games is that everyone plays regardless of age or ability; everyone is welcome and everyone plays. The Games embody the values of participation and good sportsmanship. BSG remains Wisconsin's only Olympic-style sports festival and is truly a grassroots organization that relies on the dedication of thousands of volunteers and the support of corporate partners.

The Games have become a Wisconsin tradition and a signature event. Highly respected, Badger State Games is a model in the State Games movement for presentation, organization, facilities and sponsorship customer service.

Each year the Badger State Games attract athletes from every Wisconsin county. Over 35 communities host Badger State competitions at some of the state's finest sports facilities. Athletes of every age and ability benefit from training and competing in their favorite sports. Volunteers and sponsors receive a unique opportunity to be associated with this wholesome celebration of the competitive spirit and personal challenge.

Like the Olympics, the Badger State Games throw a community party including an Opening Ceremony at which thousands of spectators witness the ritual of the Athlete Parade, the torch lighting and a closing fireworks display.

Henry Villas Zoo:

9:30 a.m. - 5:00 p.m. DAILY 702 South Randall Avenue

On June 30, 1904, Col. William F. and Anna M. Vilas gave a large tract of land to the Madison Park and Pleasure Drive Association "for the uses and purposes of a public park and pleasure ground." From 1905 through 1910, the Vilas family donated an additional $42,000 for improvements, and public donations of $10,000 were raised for the enlargement and improvement of the park. The park was named in memory of the Vilas' son, Henry, who died at a young age due to complications from diabetes. In 1911, the first animal exhibits were created, representing the start of the Henry Vilas Zoo.

In what has proved to be a defining and truly visionary move, the Vilas Family stipulated that the park always be admission free. As the zoo developed within the park, it too remained free. Today it's an extraordinary asset that few communities our size can claim. Indeed, our Zoo is one of only a few, no-admission, free parking AZA accredited zoos nationwide.

In 1983, the Zoo was identified as a regional community that could be better served by county operations. The zoo (approximately 28 acres) was "separated" from the cityowned park (about 50 acres), and a County Zoo Commission was formed. Dane County now operates the zoo, contributing 80 percent of the operating funds while the City of Madison contributes 20 percent.

The Madison Zoological and Aquarium Society was organized in 1914, shortly after the zoo was founded. In 1926, the Society was reorganized as the Henry Vilas Park Zoological Society, which continues today. In 1964, the society was incorporated as a non-profit corporation. The society's purpose is to build community support and provide funding for zoo improvements. This includes the acquisition, conservation, and replacement of animals; refurbishing and creating new exhibits; supporting educational programs; and improving the overall educational and recreational value of the zoo. The Zoological Society contributes generously to the Zoo's operating budget.

The society has been instrumental in providing funding for many zoo improvements, generally in partnership with the county and city.

In recent years lots of exciting exhibits have popped up at the zoo. We added the Children's Zoo in 1980 and the new penguin exhibit in 1986. In 1992 the Discovery Center/Herpetarium opened, marking the zoo's first hands-on educational facility with space for indoor classes. Over the last eight years our ReZOOvenation project created the Discovering Primates Complex, Big Cat Complex and Visitor Center. The Zoo entrance, gift shop and concessions area have all been tastefully replaced. The last phase of ReZOOvenation was the Tropical Rain Forest Aviary, which opened to the public in June of 2003.

The City of Madison Parks Division has thirteen beaches, ten of which have lifeguard services. The Public Health Department monitors the daily condition of the beaches.

The Russians are Coming by Matt Granovettor

In case you haven't heard yet, the Russian women's bridge team won the world championships last fall in Istanbul, Turkey. They defeated several top teams on their way to the exciting climax when they came from behind to defeat the USA women.

The American women also made a comeback in the last set, but fell short on the last board, losing the match by a mere 12 imps to the Russian gals. It will take a long time before the USA team forgets board 86, from the last set, where 17 imps were won by the Russians:

Kickback... ace and king asks Opening Lead: $3

At both tables 6♥ was reached. When the Americans were North-South, Randi Montin, South, used 4 ▲ for her Keycard Blackwood bid rather than 4NT. The 5♥ response by Jill Meyers showed two keycards and the queen of trump, and the 5▲ bid showed possession of all the keycards and asked for kings. Six hearts showed zero kings.

At Table 2, Gromova became declarer in 6♥ after a straightforward Keycard Blackwood bid of 4NT, followed by a sign-off in 6♥. Notice that at this table, it wasn't clear whether declarer was off an ace.

At table 1, Montin won the club lead in dummy with the queen, played a diamond to the ace and ruffed a diamond. Then she led the club 6 to the 9. West ruffed and returned a trump, won in dummy. Declarer was finished now, and led another club to hand, but West ruffed that too and Montin eventually lost a spade trick, for down two, 200 to Russia.

At Table 2, Victoria Gromova also received a club lead (a diamond lead, by the way, will probably result in 1430). Gromova played the 6 and won the trick with her 9. She then drew two rounds of trump, heart to the king and heart to the ace, as West, Tobi Sokolow, followed with the 4 and 10. It looks like Sokolow was falsecarding with the 10 in order to induce declarer to give up the lead to East if possible.

At this point declarer could have drawn the last trump, taken another club finesse and then play a spade from dummy. If she did, East would have to duck to defeat the contract; otherwise, declarer could drop the queen, setting up a finesse of the jack.

Instead Gromova hoped that West had started with only two trump. She led the queen of spades from her hand and floated it to East's king. Janice Molson (East) now had to decide whether her partner had a third trump or the ace of diamonds. She opted for a diamond and Gromova made the contract. Gromova won the ace of diamonds, led a spade to the ace and ruffed a spade. She drew the last trump, ending in dummy and pitched two diamonds on two spades, then took the club finesse.

+1430 in one room and 200 in the other was a total of 1630, 17 imps.

Analysis: This was a good hand for "Switch in Time" defense, where suit-preference is given in trumps.

A high-low in trumps (regardless of the number of trumps) would show the diamond ace (the higher suit between diamonds and clubs), while up the line would deny the ace of diamonds and, therefore, the only chance is a club ruff.

If you play high-low in trumps to say "I have another trump and want a ruff," it might work on this hand, but this method takes away any chance for the defender to falsecard declarer without falsecarding partner, which is what happened. 			The "choice-of-ga	mes cuebid" is a	popular esthetic	tool among bidding theorists. The bid usually occurs in a competitive auction where there's no room at the three level to locate the best trump suit for game. A similar bid, for choosing a slam, is the 5NT Pick-a-Slam convention. And today's hand features the third type in this genre: the 7* choice-of-grand-slam bid!

🔒 A K

The hand is from an OKbridge set. The auction is a modern one, using Roman Keycard Blackwood to ask about keycards and to inform partner that a grand slam is in the picture. South made a simple response to 1+ rather than jump shift, because his suit was poor. North did well to raise spades with three of them, plus the small doubleton on the side. Then South launched into Keycard Blackwood.

North's 5A showed two keycards and the gueen of trump, so South was now in the market for a grand slam. The 5NT rebid said, "Partner, we have all the keycards. I invite you to show a king or bid seven yourself if you have a source of tricks." North had just about the best hand he could have for his 2A bid. The king-queen fifth of diamonds was his source of tricks. But North wanted to convey a new message: "I've got the extra tricks, but the hand might play better in diamonds." He decided to bid 7.4 to convey this message.

It now boiled down to a jack. South selected spades rather than diamonds, because of the jack of spades. If South held the jack of diamonds instead of the jack of spades, he would have tried 7. Notice that 7. is better, because if diamonds are divided 4-1, the fourth round can be ruffed, setting up the fifth diamond. Switch the jack of spades and jack of diamonds, and seven diamonds is better!

Spring is in the air! Five women studied their gardens last weekend, deciding it was high time the garden was cleaned out and new seeds were planted. So, each woman spent Sunday afternoon cleaning out her garden in preparation for planting. Each decided that during the week, they'd plant the first of the flowers planned for the garden. Determine the full name of each woman, what type of flower each was adding to the garden, and what day of the week each planted the seeds.

1. Ms. Smith didn't plant her flowers on Wednesday. Harriet Peach didn't plant hollyhocks.

2. Betty planted violas, but not on Tuesday. Harriet planted her flowers before Martha, but after Gertrude. The petunias were planted on Friday but not by Sara.

3. Sara, whose last name wasn't Wells, didn't plant her flowers on Thursday. Betty's last name wasn't Smith.

4. The hollyhocks were planted on Wednesday. The pansies were planted on Tuesday

5. Ms. Mann didn't plant her flowers on Friday or Monday. Martha's last name wasn't Smith.

6. The five women were represented by Ms. Fiddler, the woman who planted petunias, the woman who planted flowers on Thursday, the woman who planted marigolds, and Harriet.

Novice Nook: Tips from Wanttoplaybridge.com

Puzzle:

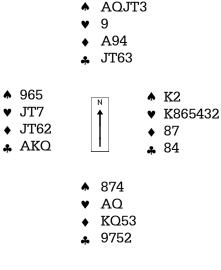

You are sitting South. North opens and passes. East bids 1 Spade. You are holding: ♠A ♥KQ97 ♦QJ7 ♣KT965 What do you bid?:

DOUBLE. - You have a good opening hand with fifteen points and just the singleton Ace of Spades, so you can tolerate playing the hand in any of the other three suits. It would obviously be best if you could find partner with four or five hearts which would set you up for a contract in hearts.

If your inclination is to bid 2 Clubs rather than double, that is not wrong, but partner could pass, and you might well end up by missing a heart contract.

Tip:

You are sitting East, and we will see all the hands in order to help make the right decisions.

Everyone is vulnerable, and with twelve points, five spades and a singleton, North comfortably opens 1 Spade. With seven hearts and six points, East can afford to try a pre-emptive 3 Hearts. It's a little risky, but immediately puts pressure on South. South as it turns out however isn't concerned about the hearts, as they have the Ace and Queen, and with East having shown at least seven hearts, it is highly likely that East has the King of Hearts.

So South tries 3 Spades showing about eleven points and three or four spades. West doesn't have enough points to respond to partner's pre-empt and passes. North has to think. He has twelve points and knows that South hasn't enough points to bid game as he has bid 3 Spades rather than four. North therefore wisely decides to pass, as do you, sitting East.

Well now, what are you going to lead against 3 Spades? You are marked with the King Of Hearts and you definitely do not want to lead a spade, so it literally is a toss up between diamonds and clubs. In this case whichever of the two suits you lead, you and partner will come to four tricks, and North will make the contract of 3 Spades. Those Norths who decided to press on ambitiously to 4 Spades will go down one trick!

NEW MONK IN TOWN

A new young monk arrives at the monastery. He is assigned to help the other monks in copying the old canons and laws of the church by hand. He notices, however, that all of the monks are copying from copies, not from the original manuscript.

So, the new monk goes to the head abbot to question this, pointing out that if someone made even a small error in the first copy, it would never be picked up. In fact, that error would be continued in all subsequent copies.

The head abbot replies, "We have been copying from the copies for centuries, but you make a good point, my son."

So, the head monk goes down into the dark caves underneath the monastery where the original manuscript is held in a locked vault that hasn't been opened for hundreds of years. Hours go by, and nobody sees the old abbot.

So, the young new monk gets worried and goes downstairs to look for the elder monk. He sees him banging his head against the floor. His forehead is all bloody and bruised, and he is crying uncontrollably.

The young monk asks the old abbot, "What's wrong, father?"

With a choking voice, the old abbot replies, "The word is celebrate."

Answers to the Hand from the Monday Night Pairs Game

Board 10	▲ QT86	This hand was in Tuesday's bulletin:
Dealer: E All Vul.	 ✓ J963 ♦ K9 ♣ 764 	I am sure most pairs arrived at the normal 3NT contract on this be According to the double dummy hand analysis on the hand reco East/West can make game or better in every suit or NT:
		5NT, 5♠, 4♥, 5♦, 6♣
▲ AJ7	N ▲ K954	Is this really possible?
 ♥ KT82 ♦ AQJ ♣ AQ8 	 ▲ A ◆ 8652 ▲ JT95 	If you can figure out how to make ANY or ALL of these contracts, write up the solution and turn it in to the bulletin editor (Suzi Subeck) and we will include it later this week in an issue of the Dairyland Digest .
	▲ 32	Guest panelists, Bart and Judy Bramley from Dallas, sent in solutions. Here they are:
	♥ Q754	"Hi Guys,
	◆ T743♣ K32	The suit contracts are all fairly straightforward. (In hearts, lead hearts to draw trumps, then cash winners. In any other suit, ruff hearts. I think you need the $$ to have enough entries in some cases.)

Against 5NT the defense must lead a heart, else you can give up a spade and a diamond to set up eleven tricks. Win the heart ace, run three rounds of clubs, and play ace and queen of diamonds. North is in with nothing but majors. A spade concedes the contract immediately, so he must play a heart. If he leads the heart jack, duck to endplay him. If he leads a heart to the queen, win the king, cross to the spade king, cash the last club pitching the $8, and cross to the diamond jack, coming down to the \bigstarAJ and the $10. North is strip-squeezed in hearts and spades on this trick. Bart"

From Judy: OK, 6 is easy. Win lead, either heart or club say, take 2 club finesses, cash K and ruff a heart, play a diamond to the Ace and ruff a heart. Play a spade to the Ace, draw trump and exit a diamond to the King. Forced spade return.

5♦ also easy. Ruff 2 hearts, hook trump and clubs, and in the endgame you are left with the ♠A and Ace of trumps and spade... Losing spade and losing trump fall on last trick.

In 4♥, on any lead, you take diamond and club finesses, and play trumps. North cannot play spades until that's all he has and West will have all winners. Will lose 2 hearts and 1 diamond.

All of the contracts seem to play the same. You can try almost any line and any suit but spades in the non-spade contracts. In spades, you can start with trumps and then clubs, or you can start any suit if \mathbf{v} A wins first trick (likely lead) Remember, North is endplayed at trick one - must lead heart or club.

Bart hasn't looked yet, so I used Deep Finesse.

Once upon a time, a blonde became so sick of hearing blonde jokes that she had her hair cut and dyed brown.

A few days later, as she was out driving around the countryside, she stopped her car to let a flock of sheep pass. Admiring the cute wooly creatures, she said to the shepherd,

"If I can guess how many sheep you have, can I take one?" The shepherd, always the gentleman, said, "Sure!"

The blonde thought for a moment and, for no discernible reason, said, "352." This being the correct number, the shepherd was, understandably, totally amazed, and exclaimed, "You're right! O.K., I'll keep to my end of the deal. Take your pick of my flock."

The blonde carefully considered the entire flock and finally picked the one that was by far cuter and more playful than any of the others.

When she was done, the shepherd turned to her and said, "O.K., now I have a proposition for you. If I can guess your true hair color, can I have my dog back?"
