Why? Why? Why? - Fun and Games Page

Why do we press harder on a remote control when we know the batteries are getting weak?

Why do banks charge a fee on "insufficient funds" when they know there is not enough?

Why does someone believe you when you say there are four billion stars, but check when you say the paint is wet?

Why doesn't glue stick to the bottle?

Why do they use sterilized needles for death by lethal injection?

Why doesn't Tarzan have a beard?

Why does Superman stop bullets with his chest, but duck when you throw a revolver at him?

Why do Kamikaze pilots wear helmets?

Whose idea was it to put an "S" in the word "lisp"?

If people evolved from apes, why are there still apes?

Why is it that no matter what color bubble bath you use the bubbles are always white?

Is there ever a day that mattresses are not on sale?

Why do people constantly return to the refrigerator with hopes that something new to eat will have materialized?

Why do people keep running over a string a dozen times with their vacuum cleaner, then reach down, pick it up, examine it, then put it down to give the vacuum one more chance?

Why is it that no plastic bag will open from the end you first try?

How do those dead bugs get into those enclosed light fixtures?

Why is it that whenever you attempt to catch something that's falling off the table you always manage to knock something else over?

In winter why do we try to keep the house as warm as it was in summer when we complained about the heat? Why do you never hear father-inlaw jokes?

Good Paying American Jobs

Joe Smith started the day early, having set his alarm clock (made in Japan) for 6:00 am. While his coffee pot (made in Japan) is perking, he puts his blow dryer (made in Taiwan) to work and shaves with his electric razor (made in Hong Kong).

He puts on a dress shirt (made in Taiwan), his designer jeans (made in Singapore), and a pair of tennis shoes (made in Korea). After cooking up some breakfast in his new electric skillet (made in the Philippines), he sits down to figure out on his calculator (made in Mexico) how much he can spend today.

After setting his watch (made in Switzerland) to the radio (made in Hong Kong), he goes out, gets in his car (made in Germany), and, as has been his daily task for months, goes looking for a good paying American job.

After the end of another discouraging and fruitless day, Joe decides to relax for a while. He puts on a pair of sandals (made in Brazil), pours himself a glass of wine (made in France), and turns on his TV (made in Japan), and ponders again why he can't find that "good paying American job."

Opening Lead: 9

One of my favorite declarer-play themes is going "against the grain." That is, not making the natural play. For example, in 6NT, the 9 of spades was led and dummy's jack won the trick. How would you continue as South?

I gave you the clue. The natural play is the club queen, setting up tricks in your long, strong, suit. But before making the natural play, it's a good idea to check it by asking yourself what will happen next. "If the club queen loses, where do I stand?" The answer is "in a hopeless situation." You then have 11 tricks: 3 spades, 2 hearts, 2 diamond and 4 clubs. Yes, you have a chance for 3 heart tricks if East has the queen, but to take 3 heart tricks you need to finesse to the A-J of hearts at trick two! This is because you have only one more entry to dummy, the ace of diamonds.

Ask yourself this question next: "If I finesse in hearts at trick two, where will that leave me?" Well, if it loses, you can still fall back on the club suit for 5 tricks. If both finesses lose, there was nothing you could do about it. If the heart finesse wins, however, you now cash the ace and just give up a club: 6 major-suit tricks, 2 diamonds and 4 clubs.

A Daring Escape by Rikard Greenberg, Campanile housecat

A cat's diet is not a subject to be trifled with. After all, as the great Maximilian de la Chatfoucald used to say: we are what we eat and I am sure no self-respecting feline would like to be known as a fish finger. Yet one of the most common and mistaken ideas that people have about us is that we love eating those tasteless meals which some dog-loving marketing whiz-kid designated as "cat-food".

Not that the alternatives people think of are any better: how would YOU like to live day after day on the same boring gruel of canned tuna and boiled rice? A look at that and I can already hear playing the tune of "Bridge on the River Kwai".

This brings me to what happened last weekend: Hana was invited for dinner by Liora, one of her best friends, and thought nothing of leaving me behind with a bowl of cold sliced turkey to keep me company, while she would no doubt enjoy some juicy gastronomic treat thanks to Liora's cordon-bleu skills. Does it sound fair to you?

Luckily, myself and the window locks had become best of friends lately and with a bit of sleight of claw I soon saw myself out and prancing about in the garden, jumping over the fence and quickly making my way towards Liora's house, located at the end of the road, 300-400 yards ..just enough to build an appetite.

If I expected an accolade of "oohhs" and "aaahs" to greet my arrival, I was to be proven very wrong. All I got was a "Told you he would come" from a smiling Hana, while the others were busy arranging their cards: yet again bridge conspiring to defraud me of what recognition my act of bravery truly deserved.

With the kitchen door firmly shut, there was nothing for me to do but to nest in Hana's lap and meditate on the fickleness of fame. After a few minutes I was jostled awake (well, you know meditation can be very deep at times), by Hana's trembling legs. What was going on? I stretched myself and peeked over the table. I could see that a very exciting auction had just taken place with the final contract being  $5 \bigstar$ .

Ruti	Liora	Aviva	Hana
			1 🔺
4♦	4	5♥	5♠
Pass	Pass	Pass

The lead was the  $\bullet J$  and this is what Hana could see:

When dummy came down Hana was not pleased: the mirror distribution was a very unwelcome sight and made her regret that rash 5 bid.

It seemed impossible to avoid losing two hearts and a club: she resigned herself to her fate and finessed the  $\diamond Q$ . Then she continued with a spade to the  $\blacklozenge A$ , shaking her head in disbelief when Aviva did not follow. She played the  $\blacklozenge K$  a diamond to the  $\blacklozenge A$ (East showing out) and came back to hand to cash her two top clubs, with both opponents following. Next came a heart to the  $\blacklozenge A$  while Ruti pitched a diamond. The strange distribution was by now clear and this hand had suddenly revealed a lot of its hidden potential. Could this hopeless contract be make-able after all?

We know that Ruti has started with 3-0-8-2 and by inference that Aviva has 0-7-1-5, so the position we have reached is the following with North to play:

Hana continued with a spade to Ruti's Arrow Q who was forced to return a diamond in ruff and discard. Hana looked at it with a rueful smile and remarked: "Not even that helps me". She was right because she would still have to lose two more tricks in addition to the Arrow Q conceded earlier.

So she proceeded to pitch a heart from dummy and to ruff in her hand but she forgot her vigilant "guardian cat"... As she was about to play a spade from her hand, with a sudden movement I jerked free her  $\bigstar 6$  which fell on the table. She went to pick that up but then gave up on it, thinking that it would not matter anyway.

But it did matter, can you see why? Ruti had no choice but to play another diamond letting Hana pitch the last heart from dummy and ruff in hand. All she

Bridge Greats ... Charles Goren from the 18th European Junior Championships

Charles Goren (1901-1991) was born in Philadelphia and earned a Masters degree in Law at McGill University. It was while a student that he learned to play bridge. A lifelong bachelor, bridge soon became the great love of his life.

Goren's first book, Winning Bridge Made Easy, was published in 1936 and in the same year he ceased his legal work and turned to bridge full time. From the late thirties onward, as Culbertson gave less time to bridge, so Goren gradually took over his mantle as the world's leading bridge authority and was known to millions as 'Mr. Bridge'. He wrote many books on the game and they were immensely popular with the masses who also attended his lectures and holidayed on Goren's bridge cruises.

Goren's recommended bidding methods were based on Milton Work's point count system (ace=4, king=3, queen=2, jack=1) and appealed much more to the average player than Culbertson's honor tricks. Soon Goren's methods swept all other systems before them and became known as Standard American. It is estimated that his books sold more than ten million copies in total and some are still selling today.

As well as books, Goren had a syndicated bridge column with a huge circulation and his TV series, 'Championship Bridge with Charles Goren', which ran from 1959 to 1964, was hailed as the first really successful bridge program on television.

As a player, Charles was a member of the winning American team in the inaugural Bermuda Bowl in 1950 and represented his country on several other occasions. He won 34 national titles, many in partnership with Helen Sobel, and won the McKenney Trophy for masterpoint wins eight times, enabling him to lead the overall ACBL masterpoint rankings from 1944 to 1962.

Goren was named an ACBL Honorary Member in 1959 and was one of the first three players elected to the Hall of Fame four years later. He also spent many years as a member of the ACBL Laws Commission.

For a player of Goren's capabilities, it is a case of 'the difficult we do straight away; the impossible merely takes a little longer'. Try your hand at this  $6 \bullet$  contract. West leads  $\bullet J$  but shows out on the second round. When you draw the last trump and cash the top diamonds West turns up with the bare eight. Can you see any chance?

C 104 The only place you can park your losing diamonds is on the clubs, but with only one dummy entry you cannot both establish a club trick and then cash it. Or can you?

Puzzle Page ...

Larry, a salesman at the OK Used Cars company, had a busy morning. He brought five different people out to the lot to show five different cars. To his great surprise and pleasure, each customer bought the car that Larry showed them in the lot. Now he just had to process all that paperwork. Determine the name of each customer, and the color, make, model, and year of the used car that each bought.

- 1. The 2004 car, which was the newest car purchased, was white. Cindy didn't buy a Jet.
- 2. Mark didn't buy the silver car, but the car he bought was older than the Raven.

3. The Ford car was not royal blue. The Saab Celeste was not a 2000 car, which was the oldest car purchased. The Pontiac car was not a Trapper.

4. Cindy didn't buy the cherry red Raven, which was not a Chrysler car.

5. The Honda was older than the Trapper but newer than the car that Wanda bought.

6. From the oldest to the newest made, the cars purchased were the Pontiac, the car that Jeffrey bought, the black car, the Premiere, and the car that Debbie bought.

In a local championship I played following hand.

- ▲ K932 As South I could count almost 9 tricks so I opened 2 ♣.
  - 987 Partner bid  $3 \\black$  to show the A of black and I established trumps with  $3 \\black$ .
  - 9876 North showed his spades at 3 A and I cue-bid 4 A.

Partner signed off in  $4 \checkmark$  but I aggressively bid  $6 \checkmark$  hoping the spades would be helpful.

West lead the  $\blacklozenge$  K which I won and played a club to the Q taken by West with the ace. West continued with the  $\blacklozenge$  Q which I ruffed.

I removed trumps with ace and king and cashed the * K. I went to dummy with a small trump and ruffed the 3rd club.

The following position was now established:

I cashed my queen and ten of hearts.

The player holding both the spades and the ten of clubs cannot discard properly without establishing the third spade or the nine of clubs.

If I did not see the ten of clubs coming on the last heart, then I would have discarded a spade from the dummy. My third spade would now be high if East or West had both the high club and the four card spade holding.

SUMMER NABC ALERT: There will be a meeting of all committee chairs on Saturday morning at 10:00 a.m. in the Westgate room. A full breakfast will be served. All chairs are expected to attend. Please let us know if you will NOT be able to participate.

In addition, there will be another meeting at the May District Regional in Lake Geneva. More info on that will be available at a later date. Please plan to attend BOTH meetings as the time is drawing nearer to the actual event. Thank you ... Jackie Addis and Marilynn Charlson

Harriette Buckman, ACBL President, has suggested that we make Friday, July 14th, local spirit day at the Nationals. She is asking that anyone who helped support the tournament by purchasing a T-shirt please wear it to the game that day. The sea of colors will be a great promo for the next ten days! Thanks to all of you for your support. Stand up and be counted in this public display of enthusiasm.

Jackie Addis and Marilynn Charlson, NABC co-chairs, want to remind everyone that they are still selling decks of Nationals playing cards (1.50 per deck individually or 1.20/deck in lots of 12.) They are also selling signed and numbered limited edition NABC logo posters, perfect for framing (see exhibit in the selling area outside the playing area any time during this tournament). These posters will make great souvenirs of the upcoming event. They are priced at $25 each and come in handy, easy to transport tubes. The third NABC article for sale are the aforementioned T-shirts. If you want to get in on the July 14th promotion, you can purchase a shirt for the measly price of $6.00. Proceeds from all sales go to benefit the 2006 Summer Nationals. Your support is greatly appreciated! Thanks in advance!!

Meet the Players... Last night, it was my privilege to interview the pair I believe came from the greatest distance to attend this tournament. Marie Topp and Bryan Clarkson, came from Wales via New Zealand and Mesa, Arizona, just to spend this week with us.

This is not their first time in the U.S. Four years ago, Marie and Bryan were traveling around the United States on a holiday. They decided to spend an afternoon playing bridge at a club in the northwestern suburbs, and stumbled on Tom Sucher's weekly game. They had a delightful time, despite the fact that Bryan became seriously ill shortly thereafter. They said Tom was a great help, and they became fast friends with him and his wife, Margaret, returning to the States several times since, always spending some time with the Suchers.

Marie and Bryan are not inexperienced players. They play a version of ACOL, a popular system in Britain, employing weak no-trumps and four card majors. It was hard for them here to fill out a convention card. They were not familiar with our card. They said the hardest part of the bidding was defending against our five card majors.

Marie was President of the Wales Bridge Union and she and Bryan played at least three times a week. After Marie gave up her Presidency, they played less often, and in Bryan's opinion, their game suffered.

Both Welshmen are enjoying their stay here with us. They said that everyone here has been wonderful... especially Tom and Margaret, but really all the locals have been helpful and tolerant when unfamiliar things happened at the table. (i.e. In Wales, you do not announce no-trump ranges or transfers. You do not speak during the auction unless you are asked a specific question.) When they have neglected to announce a no-trump range, their opponents have gently reminded them to do so without getting upset.

Both Marie and Bryan say they will return in years to come to play in our tournaments. They love the facility here in Lake Geneva... the good lighting, comfortable playing space, and warmth of the players. We will welcome them back with open arms. We look forward to seeing our new friends whenever they are in the area!

At this tournament, Marie and Bryan have won quite a few masterpoints, finishing second in one knockout...

A Hand from the Organizer of the Bob Hamman Classic (see page11 for more information) - Serge Bondar, the organizer of Bob Hamman Classic, said that idea of " self-determination" of one's playing level came from reading a book by Erwin Brecher, sub-titled " a bridge book with difference". The following diagram is printed on the cover, with the note -

South makes 6 Hearts against best defense.

Thompson, Kingston NY

West leads ♥2.

You are in a south seat looking at all four hands.
