Opening Lead: ♠9

Alan Truscott once wrote that a winning finesse with a 5, with all hands following suit, is a world record. It can be tied, but cannot be beaten. Let's see how this worked on today's hand.

Norma Borin of Australia was South in 4♥. West led the 9 of spades, covered by the jack, king and ace. The ace-king of hearts dropped the queen and then a diamond was led. East won with the 9 and shifted to a low club, to the king and ace. Now for the world record.

Declarer called for the 5 of spades (I suppose if she had led the 6, 7, or 8, it would have been the same, but not nearly as esthetic). When East followed with the 3, declarer played the 4 and West the 2. The trick went: 5, 3, 4, 2. Another spade lead drew the ten, a diamond was ruffed and two spades cashed for two club discards, to make 12 tricks. Yes, a club opening lead would defeat the contract, but spoil all the fun.

Above we saw a finesse with a 5. Here is a finesse with a 4, though only three players followed suit, not four. It all happened about 50 years ago, when Albert Morehead reached 6NT from the South position. With a poor choice of opening leads, West tried the ten of hearts.

Trick one went: ten, jack, queen, king. But more important, East showed visible signs of resentment when he played the queen, and Morehead figured this meant the 9 was with East, not West. And if this was so, it also meant that West had the remaining queens, otherwise why the dangerous lead? So Morehead led a diamond to the jack followed by the 8 of hearts. This trick went: 8, 9, ace, 7. Hang on tight now, the big finesse is coming.

Declarer returned to dummy via the diamond ace and led the 2 of hearts. It went: 2, 3, 4, show out. Now that's a finesse! The hand was just about over now, except for a little squeeze, strip and endplay. On the 4 of hearts West had thrown a diamond, and on the 6 of hearts West threw a club. So declarer cashed the king of diamonds and played three rounds of clubs, forcing West to lead from his queen of spades. This wasn't really necessary, since the fourth club was now high in dummy and there was no need to strip the diamonds. Perhaps Morehead was overly excited and a little off kilter from his unique heart finesse.

Feckless First Aid...

Ole staggered home very late after another evening with his drinking buddy Sven. He took off his shoes to avoid waking his wife Lena. He tiptoed as quietly as he could toward the stairs leading to their upstairs bedroom, but misjudged the bottom step.

As he caught himself by grabbing the banister, his body swung around and he landed heavily on his rump. A whiskey bottle in each back pocket broke and made the landing especially painful.

Managing not to yell, Ole sprung up, pulled down his pants, and looked in the hall mirror to see that his butt cheeks were cut and bleeding. He managed to quietly find a full box of band-Aids and began putting a band-aid as best he could on each place he saw blood. He then hid the now almost empty band-aid box and shuffled and stumbled his way to bed. In the morning, Ole woke up with searing pain in both his head and butt and Lena staring at him from across the room.

She said, "You were drunk again last night weren't you Ole?"

Ole said, "Why you say such a mean thing?"

"Well," Lena said, "it could be the open front door, it could be the broken glass at the bottom of the stairs, it could be the drops of blood trailing through the house, it could be your bloodshot eyes, but mostly...

"It's all those band-aids stuck on the hall mirror."

We Three Tortoises...

Three tortoises, Mick, Alan and Les, decide to go on a picnic. So Mick packs the picnic basket with beer and sandwiches. The trouble is the picnic site is ten miles away so it takes them ten days to get there.

When they get there Mick unpacks the food and beer. "Ok, Les Give me the bottle opener."

"I didn't bring it," says Les. "I thought you packed it." Mick gets worried, He turns to Alan, "Did you bring the bottle opener??"

Naturally Alan didn't bring it. So they're stuck ten miles from Home without a bottle opener. Mick and Alan beg Les to go back for it, but he refuses as he says they will eat all the sandwiches.

After two hours, and after they have sworn on their tortoise lives that they will not eat the sandwiches, he finally agrees. So Les sets off down the road at a steady pace.

Twenty days pass and he still isn't back and Mick and Alan are starving, but a promise is a promise.

Another five days and he still isn't back, but a promise is a promise. Finally they can't take it any longer so they take out a sandwich each, and just as they are about to eat it, Les pops up from behind a rock and shouts....

"I KNEW IT!.....I'M NOT FREAKING GOING!"

Final Qualifying Round from JennBridge by Jennifer Jones

Picking up the penultimate board of the third and final qualifying session of the World Mixed Pairs, I was pretty confident that we would be in good shape with a good round; not so sure with a bad round. We had to deal with an unusual bid and also make a critical decision in the play.

Board 25. Unfavorable vulnerability.

I had a nice hand and opened 1club after RHO passed.

♠ K109
♥ AKJ7
♦ A62
♣ K87

LHO then bid 2 clubs, described as a 2-suiter with spades. Partner, Bob bid 2 diamonds. RHO bid 2S and I bid 2NT. Pard bid 3D, and although we had a later discussion what our bids meant over this relatively unusual treatment, I bid 3NT.

♥ 432
♦ KQ10973
♣ A3

♠ K109
♥ AKJ7
♦ A62
♣ K87

Later, when we discussed the bidding, I noted that I thought Bob's 2 diamond, followed by 3 diamond bid showed weakness, as it would have over a Michaels cuebid. Therefore, I meant my 2NT bid as strength-showing. He thought his bidding showed 10 + points as it would have over an overcall and therefore took my 2NT bid as nothing more than a minimum. Check out your agreements with your partner!

A spade was led and RHO won and returned a spade to my king. I cashed the heart ace to get a look at the hand and RHO showed out. As LHO obviously had hearts and spades, I had to play the diamonds carefully--playing RHO for all of them. I led a diamond to the king and LHO showed out. I ran the 10 of diamonds, won the ace and went back to the board with the club ace to run the diamonds.

After reviewing this hand, and unable to accurately reconstruct it even with the hand records, I finally realized that an odd thing happened on the run of the diamonds. Due to the lateness of the hour (and possibly due to the fact that Bob was studying the score handout, trying to calculate our percentage), dummy's cards weren't played properly and I only made two discards on the diamonds.

I came down to these cards:

♥ KJ
♣ K

When I led a club to my king, LHO showed out. She had discarded several hearts and the queen or jack of spades. I had to decide whether to cash out for 10 safe tricks or to go for the endplay for the extra trick. LHO rated to have the remaining spade honor, but if RHO had it, holding myself to 9 tricks would net a pathetic score. This situation, (trying to decide whether to go for a top and risk a bottom) is not for the faint of heart. I finally decided I had to go for it so I closed my eyes (not really) and played the spade. LHO won and led into my heart tenace. Making 5 the hard way. After the game I was rather surprised that plus 660 didn't score better than 68%, and only now realize that making 5 would have been relatively easy if we had kept better track of the cards (6 diamonds, 2 hearts, 2 clubs and a spade).

LHO (South): QJ876/Q109865/void/Q5
RHO (North): A32/void/J854/J109642

All was well that ended well, as we played in the finals starting later that evening.

School Smarts...

A college pizza delivery boy arrived at the house of Mr. Smith. He delivered the pizza to his trailer. After giving it to him, Mr. Smith asked: "What is the usual tip?"

"Well," replied the youth, "this is my first trip here, but the other guys say if I get a quarter out of you, I'll be doing great."

"Is that so?" snorted Mr. Smith. "Well, just to show them how wrong they are, here's five dollars."

"Thanks," replied the youth, "I'll put this in my school fund."

"What are you studying in school?" asked Larry.

The lad smiled and said: "Applied psychology."

HANDLING DIFFICULT SITUATIONS FROM JENNBRIDGE

Here is the first of two hands from the final qualifying session of the World Mixed Pairs where we had to deal with unusual bids:

Board 4, All vul.

♠ A10763
♥ A
♦ AJ3
♣ AQ83

I was rather enamored with this hand, especially when partner opened 1 diamond, but then RHO overcalled 1NT, alerted as unusual, for the two lower unbid suits!

Well, this throws a wrench in the bidding. My only forcing call is double, so that's what I do.

LHO bid 2 hearts, partner passed and RHO bid 3 clubs. These bids were alerted and complex explanations were forthcoming, but I wasn't really very interested as I was busy thinking about what slam to bid. At this point we were in undiscussed territory and I wasn't about to make a bid I thought was forcing only to have a bidding accident. I couldn't really show my spades and so I just bid what I thought I could make...

Six notrump!

A heart was led and Bob put down this dummy:

♠ K9
♥ Q73
♦ KQ87652

♠ A10763
♥ A
♦ AJ3
♣ AQ83

That 7 card diamond suit was a beautiful sight, and a quick count of my tricks revealed that I had 11. A successful club finesse would land the contract, but as this was a qualifier for a world championship match-point game, I studied the hand for overtrick possibilities.

After the run of the diamonds these cards were left, RHO having discarded the queen of spades along with 2 hearts and 3 clubs.

♠ K9
♥ Q7

♠ A107
♥
♣ AQ

I took the club finesse, lost a spade at the end and claimed my 1440 for 82% of the matchpoints. Before I learned of the good score, however, I worried a little about not taking a club finesse, then leading a spade to the 9, and claiming all 13 of the tricks. This would have been a disaster, however, if RHO started with the unlikely holding of QJ of spades.

LHO (South) held: J8542/6542/109/52
RHO (North) held: Q/KJ1098/4/KJ10974

Exuberance in the Mixed Pair Finals from JennBridge

The Rosenblum Cup has started in Philadelphia and there is extensive Vugraph coverage on Bridge-base.com. Here are a couple more hands from the World Mixed Pairs Finals.

Board 8.

Bob opened 1 heart and I responded 1 spade with:

♠ AQJ62
♥ Q75
♦ 10
♣ KQ103

He now surprised me by jumping to 3 hearts—good hand, good hearts. I bid 4 notrump and learned that he had 4 key cards. As I had a great hand and we had all of the controls plus the queen of trumps, I bid 5NT, ostensibly asking for kings, but encouraging partner to bid 7 hearts with an undisclosed source of tricks. I was disappointed when he bid 6 hearts, but not quite ready to give up. Where could his points be? If he held the king of diamonds, surely he would have shown it. Lacking the king of diamonds, surely he had the king of spades! With typical exuberance (aggressiveness?) I therefore jumped to 7 hearts.

He didn't seem dismayed as a heart was led and I tabled the dummy:

♠ AQJ62
♥ Q75
♦ 10
♣ KQ103

♠ Void
♥ AK10962
♦ A94
♣ A984

He won the heart in his hand, cashed the ace of diamonds, ruffed a diamond, ruffed a spade to his hand, and ruffed the last diamond with the heart queen. He ruffed another spade to his hand, drew trump and discarded his possible losing club on the ace of spades. Bidding and making 7 was worth 76% of the matchpoints.

LHO held: K974/J8/K87/J652

RHO held: 10853/43/QJ6532/7

With all of these great boards, you might be tempted to ask: "Why didn't you make it into the top 10?" Don't Ask.

Board 19.

At favorable vulnerability I picked up as South:

♠ 72
♥ 102
♦ KQ72
♣ KQ1042

Hating to be at the mercy of another expert pair, who could certainly bid accurately without interference, I thought briefly about opening 3 clubs before I passed in first seat. I couldn't restrain myself, however, when the bidding tray came back under the screen containing a 2 club opening bid by RHO.

I overcalled 3 clubs! LHO passed, indicating that his pass showed values. The bidding tray was out of sight for a while and when it emerged, it revealed plenty of action. Bob had jumped to 5 clubs and RHO had bid 5NT! Now LHO had a problem as this was likely undiscussed territory. Trying to look unperturbed, he thought for a while and then jumped to 7 hearts.

Bob led a club and this East hand was put down:

♠ AKJ8
♥ AQ543
♦ A105
♣ A

A nice hand, but they had to lose a diamond and we scored up 92% of the matchpoints. Bob made a nice bid of 5 clubs with: Q1094/6/983/87653.

LHO (West, the declarer) held:

♠ 653
♥ KJ987
♦ J64
♣ J9

Since he had already shown values with his pass, his bid of 7 hearts might best be described as a case of Irrational Exuberance! Good to be on the right side of those two pushy grand slams.

Bridge is a timed event. Please finish your rounds promptly and don't slow down game. Thank you.

You and your partner must have identically filled-out conventions cards on the table at all times.

Be sure you have your cell phones turned off in the playing area! There is a penalty if you do not!!
